Story Highlights

- Ten Five Hospitality will open three food and beverage concepts in Pendry Nashville.
- Pendry Nashville slated to open late 2027 with 180 hotel rooms and 146 condos.
- Dan Daley and Kim Walker launched Ten Five Hospitality in 2021.

An acclaimed Los Angeles-based hospitality group is bringing multiple food and beverage concepts to a rising Gulch tower.

Ten Five Hospitality, whose expertise spans luxury hotels, restaurants and nightlife destinations, will open three original concepts inside the 30-story Pendry Nashville, spanning the lobby to the rooftop.

“Nashville has had this renaissance in the last few years and we thought about trying to find somebody that had a great concept, a great vision, who was really a hands-on operator and could execute a cool concept with a great service culture and do it seamlessly,” Michael Fuerstman, co-founder of Pendry Hotels & Resorts told the Business Journal. “There’s very few people at the absolute top of the game. ... We’ve been tracking [Ten Five Hospitality] for a while and we are just blown away by that they were able to accomplish at Mother Wolf.”

Dan Daley and Kim Walker launched Ten Five Hospitality in 2021, and its portfolio includes restaurants like Mother Wolf, The Oak Room and Desert 5 Spot, with hotel properties including The Hollywood Grande and Hollywood Volume.

TEN FIVE HOSPITALITY

At the Pendry Nashville, Ten Five will develop a new ground-floor restaurant, all-day lobby bar and cafe and garden restaurant and bar on the rooftop, sitting next to the pool.

“Nashville is a market that we’ve obviously had our eye on for a number of years now, just given how dynamic it’s become,” Daley told the Business Journal. “I’ve spent many years in Nashville just through my love of country music and to see the what the Gulch has become over the last 15 years or so has been incredible.”

When entering a new market, Ten Five Hospitality likes to learn about the city through meeting the locals.

“We’re not coming in as the type of group that assumes that because we’ve been potentially successful in other markets that what we’ve done in other markets is going to automatically translate into Nashville,” Daley said. “We spend months meeting with people. ... We sort of blend it and come up with something that we think will really resonate not with tourists and anyone else other than just the local community, because that’s the lifeblood of your business.”

Throughout his time in Nashville, Daley has become a fan of Strategic Hospitality’s restaurants, Rolf and Daughters (particularly the sweet corn agnolotti) and what Ryan Poli is doing at Iggy’s.

Details about Ten Five Hospitality’s Nashville restaurants will be revealed at a later date.

“There are three exquisitely beautiful spaces ... incredibly distinctive and certainly a point of differentiation from a lot of the other restaurants that have started to open over the last three, four, five years,” Daley said. “We created a space where you walk in and feel like you’re in a different place, you’re in a different time.”

Pendry Nashville, slated to open in late 2027, is bringing 180 hotel rooms and 146 condos to SomeraRoad's Paseo South Gulch development. The Ten Five Hospitality concepts will join other food and beverage outlets at Paseo like The Catbird Seat, Maiz de la Vida, The Patterson House, Two Hands, All'Antico Vinaio, The Blind Barber, SunLife Organics and Naked Farmer.

"I would love for the property to be known as the place to go out for a really fun evening, for an entire evening," Fuerstman said. "From afternoon to evening to dinner to post-dinner, you have a really thoughtful, well-programmed experience to spend the entire time on property with us. If we execute the right way, that will keep a lot of our guests that stay in house on property with us ... and even more so, I really think it will pull a lot of locals."

On the other side of the Gulch, renowned José Andrés Group recently opened three concepts inside the W Nashville: Zaytinya, Bar Mar and Butterfly.
